DEBTS OF BROKERS WHO FAIL MAY EXCEED $5,000,000

Jones & Baker, New York
Curb Operators, Had
Thousands of Clients
Throughout U. S.

UNUSUAL PERSONAL STORY BEHIND FIRM

Senior Member, Son of Blacksmith at Streator, Ill., Employed as Clerk in Chicago Up to 11 Years Ago.

By the Associated Press
NEW YORK, June 1.—Thousands of investors throughout the country and prosecuting officials here are awaiting the report of accountants who began an investigation of the brokerage firm of Jones & Baker after it had been forced into involuntary receivership yesterday.

After their first conference with the directors of the firm, which did most half of all the business conducted on the curb market, officials said they believed investors would get back more on the dollar than has been paid by any big brokerage firm in bankruptcy in some time. Company spokesmen expressed confidence that 100 cents on the dollar could be paid.

The bankruptcy proceedings grew out of an investigation of the firm's mode of doing business started by the Law Committee of the Curb Association. Learning of the investigation, investors began to withdraw, spelling some creditors to force appointment of a receiver that orderly liquidation might be brought about. The creditors will appoint a committee today.

Interesting Personal Story.

Behind the firm lies an interesting personal story. It concerns William Jones, the son of a Streator (Ill.) blacksmith, the senior partner whose face was unfamiliar to the brokers of the curb and to many of business men with whom the firm did business. About a decade ago he was employed by Charles A. Stoneham, now president of the New York Giants, who then had no brokerage concern in Chicago. They worked and Jones organized his firm and set it up directly opposite that of Stoneham on LaSalle Street, Chicago, moving here later. Jones preferred to remain out of sight, and neither he nor his present partner, Jackson W. Sells, ever appeared on the floor. Jones taught a Sunday school class in the Presbyterian Church in Deale, N. J. While the assets and liabilities of Jones & Baker were not given in detail, unofficial estimates of its liabilities ranged from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

The company had nearly 10,600 investors' accounts here and in six large branch offices in other states.

Firm Denies Insolvency.
Counsel for the petitioners, whose sum totaled $3,500, said the action was taken as a result of newspaper stories, to prevent disorderly liquidation of assets, which would have sent ruin to the firm's customers immediately after the appointment. Alfred C. Cox Jr., as receiver by federal Judge Goddard, the firm issued a statement denying that it was insolvent and declaring that, with a careful and prompt liquidation of our assets, none of our customers will suffer a loss and we will be able to pay 100 cents on the dollar.

Because of numerous irregularities resulting from some of the recent brokerage failures, representatives of the District Attorney's office filed the firm's general offices to range for a conservation of the books and other records. It was announced later that the books and cards would not be removed from jurisdiction of the court.

Wall street was filled with rumors of the bankruptcy proceedings resulting from pressure exerted by the York Stock Exchange authorities.

Captives' Song in Face of Death Stunned Brigands

Englishman, Released by Chinese Outlaws, Tells How Morale of Prisoners Stiffened When Lives Were Threatened.

By the Associated Press
TSAO CHWANG, June 1.—Maj. Robert A. Allen of the United States Army Medical Corps, Manila, and W. Smith, slightly built, gray-haired tourist of Manchester, England, the two prisoners of the Shantung brigands released Wednesday, had their first real sleep in three weeks at the American Relief Station here that night.

Yesterday Maj. Allen left for Tientsin to rejoin his wife, while Smith took the train for Peking. "I left the Paotzuksu temple with mixed emotions, glad to be released, yet full of regret about parting with my fellow prisoners, the finest group of men I ever met," said Smith before he boarded the train.

"Endured Terrible Hardships." "Long life to them all. Without complaint they endured terrible difficulties, particularly before the American Relief Station here took up the work of ministering to their needs."

The climax of our experiences came Tuesday, May 22. On that day the bandits communicated to us the ultimatum they had sent out to the Chinese authorities and relief workers. "Withdraw the troops or all the captives will be killed."

"Then we all thought the end was near. All were pale and silent as we heard the ultimatum, but one of our group started to sing and the rest immediately joined in.

"The bandits were dumfounded.

Their chief and rank and file were a reply to the conclusion, particularly because of the contrast between our attitude and that of the Chinese prisoners, who were meek and cringing.

"From that moment our morale improved. We organized our camp so that each man had special duties to perform and keep his time occupied."

"We have not the words to express our gratitude to the relief mission that has supplied our wants and satisfied our whims. The daily arrival of the bearers from the relief camp was a big event in our hilltop prison."

By the Associated Press
TIENTSIN, June 1.—All the four captives now held by the Shantung bandits in their Paotzuksu stronghold will be released in a few days, according to Maj. Robert A. Allen, U. S. A. Medical Corps, who arrived here last night.

SKIPPER OF RUM SHIP PLANS TO RETIRE WITH $1,000,000

One More Trip Will Raise Profits to That Figure, Captain of British Yacht Says.

By the Associated Press

NORFOLK, Va., June 1.—Just one more successful voyage as a rum ship with a full cargo of Scotch whiskies is the ambition of the owner and skipper of the British Yacht, now 15 miles off the Virginia Capes, according to the story the skipper told local bankers when he came ashore to exchange a quarter of a million dollars for British currency. This final trip, the captain was quoted today as saying, would enable him to retire from the "business" with profits totaling $1,000,000.

"While the Yacht rode at anchor at sea her owner and master made his way to shore in a yawl. He returned in a launch.

The Yacht has been idling off the Capes for 10 days, while coast guard craft patrolled the waters within the three-mile limit, keeping a watchful eye for smugglers.

After the Yacht's return to the bank, the skipper's master declared his vessel had never brought liquor closer than 15 miles to the American shore. Invariably, he said, the Yacht's cargoes have been sold and transferred at least 12 miles from the territorial waters of the United States.

189 KITES FLOWN

BY BOYS IN CONTEST

East St. Louis Youngster Makes Kite and Gets It in Air Within Four Minutes.

Kites—scores of them—swarmed into the air around the Y. M. C. A. in East St. Louis yesterday as 189 grade-school youngsters competed in the annual kite-flying contest. The youngsters from the ungraded school may not know so much about the three R's, but they fly a mean kite, so to speak, walking off with the honors.

Of the 189 kites flown, 30 belonged to the ungraded school entrants, and these flew up a score of 72 points, while the next highest was 28, made by the Hawthorne School team. Score was made on number of kites entered, on passing height, duration, kites and on the originality of designs of kites entered. Boys from 12 grade schools flew kites.

There were all sorts of them in the air, as many as $8 at a time swooping and twirling.

The largest kite, won by Herbert Conley of the Longfellow School, was 28 feet 10 inches tall, the two-stick "bendy-bow" type. Then, there was a prize for the smallest kite, and a tiny "spad" 6½ inches high.

COUNTER REVOLUTIONISTS SHOT
BY HUNDREDS IN RUSSIA

Revolt Against Soviets Brings Whole-sale Executions in South—340 Put to Death in Georgia.
(By Wireless to the Post-Dispatch and Chicago Daily News. Copyright, 1922.)

BERLIN, June 1.—Several hundred counter revolutionists have been executed by the soviet authorities in Southern Russia and Georgia in the last two weeks, according to dispatches in the German newspapers. These executions are accepted as an indication of a new flaring up of the spirit of revolt against the soviet Government, and especially those parts that are distant from Moscow.

In Georgia alone the red troops shot 340 persons convicted of plotting against the soviet Government. Other reports received by the Ost Express, the Berlin agency which distributed Russia news, are that a new white Russian army is being formed in Bulgaria and Rumania under the leadership of officers who served in the Wrangel and Denikine armies. The object of this army will no longer be to overthrow the Moscow Government, but to establish a white Russia in the Balkans and Southern Russia. Georgia and the movement are growing.

Many white officers have succeeded in escaping from the Bulgarian and Jugo-Slavian internment camps and are now in Constantinople, Italy and France, where they have raised big funds for equipping an army. The Ost Express adds, however, that it may be another year before the anti-soviet campaign is launched.

EIGHT RACE HORSES BURNED TO DEATH IN STABLE FIRE

Oil Stove Explosion Believed to Have Caused $100,000 Blaze at Maple Heights.

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., June 1.—Owners and trainers were checking up their stables today in an effort to learn if any of their horses were among the eight thoroughbreds and a pony burned to death in a fire which destroyed five barns at Maple Heights race track near here late yesterday.

One of the dead animals is believed to be Fincastle, but this could not be verified until several horses, which could not be located late last night, were rounded up today. They were among the hundred odd that were liberated when the fire was raging and fled through woods and fields near the track.

Portlight, a 10-year-old gelding by Hamburg and Harop II, a 2-year-old gelding by Sweeper, were probably the best known of the dead animals. Portlight had been liberated but returned to the flaming barn.

Others that lost their lives are Susana, Mambo, The Ulster, Long Island and Shortstop. The dead animals belonged to the stables of A. S. Eastman of Toledo and J. A. Parsons of Cheyenne, Wyo.

The loss will run over $100,000, it is estimated.

The fire, it is believed, was caused by the explosion of an oil stove in one of the barns. The track authorities today confiscated all such stoves to prevent a recurrence of the blaze.

SEISMIC OBSERVATORY TO BE
HEWN IN ROCK UNDER CAMPUS

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., June 1.—A terranean seismic observatory which probably will be the most completely equipped in America will be hewn in solid rock underlying the campus of the new St. Ignatius College in Fairmount Heights, the Rev. Frederick L. Oldenbach, S. J., professor of natural sciences and curator of the college observatory, announced.

The rock underlying the new campus will give me a perfect foundation for my pendulums and seismograph instruments," Father Oldenbach said. "With this I shall be able to record the slightest tremor without the interference of local surface disturbances.

"At present a passing street car or motor truck makes its impression on some of my more delicate pendulums."

SCHOLARSHIP HOLDER MUST STUDY AMERICAN ARCHITECTURE

British Winner Required to Submit Report on Development in United States

Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

London, May 17.—Impressive evidence of the esteem in which American architecture is held in England is the recent announcement by the Society of Architects that it has instituted an annual scholarship worth $1,000 for one of the three years in succession—and that the holder of the first scholarship will be required to visit America for six months. Afterward he must submit to the society a report bearing on some aspects of the development of modern architecture in the United States. Competitors for these scholarships must be British subjects under the age of 40 and must possess high architectural attainment.

It is regarded as a great compliment that America should be chosen first for such study. Some years ago English architects expressed the greatest surprise when the winner of an architectural traveling scholarship decided instead of going to Italy to go to America to study the architecture of hospitals and institutions there. American architects have now the premier position for great office buildings and hotels.

AMERICAN WOMEN PRESENTED AT COURT

Striking Toilets in Evidence When British Sovereigns Receive Them.

By the Associated Press

LONDON, June 1.—Last night's court was even more brilliant as regards beautiful gowns and jewels than that given Wednesday night by King George and Queen Mary. The attendance also was more general in character. It was notably a flower function, the women carrying splendid bouquets instead of only fans.

The prevailing colors were blue and gold, with gold, with various Egyptian in style. Among the more striking of the toilettés was that of the wife of the Brazilian Ambassador, Dona Anna Semper de Gama, a Venetian picture gown, entirely embroidered with heraldic designs in various precious stones, suggesting the magnificence of the fifteenth century.

The American women who were presented also wore beautiful toilettés. Those introduced to the King and Queen by Mrs. Post Wheeler, wife of the American chargé d'affaires, included Mrs. Cyrus H. K. Curtis and Mrs. Harry Norman of Washington; Miss Rebecca Smith, Boston; Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. M. Sweeney, Columbia, Ind.; Mrs. William L. Watson, Mrs. William Lowerice and Miss Helen Rice, New York; Miss Lenihan, daughter of Gen. Lenihan of Massachusetts; Miss Margaret Emmet of New York and Miss Sylvia Lathrop, formerly of San Francisco but now living in London.

Structure Near Scilly Islands Rises From Jagged Rock 160 Feet Above the Sea Level.

LONDON, June 1.—Bishop's Light, rising from a foundation of jagged rock near the Scilly Islands, commands a thousand miles of the English Channel, and at the same time gives grim warning of the nearby labyrinth of dangers. It stands guard over waters where rest the skeletons of more shipwrecks than in any other marine graveyard of the world.

The light is 160 feet above the sea level, yet the waves that break forever at the base of the rock constantly dash over its topmost masonry. So trying is the service at Bishop's Light that the three tenders are given frequent vacations and two months of duty with one month ashore is the rule.

During a recent spring storm the beams from Bishop's Rock came near to falling. The light weighs several tons and revolves on supports resting in a circular trough of mercury, balanced so delicately a child may turn it by a touch of the finger. On this night the tower was so shaken by the heavy seas that much of the mercury was spilled out over the concrete floor of the light chamber. The three guards fell on their knees, scooped up the mercury in their hands and poured it back into the trough. The active guards were of quicksilver around a rough cement floor was not easy nor rapid work, and they finished finally with torn and bleeding hands.

If the tower of Bishop's Light ever crumbles the keepers there will not have the faintest chance for their lives. There is not even a foothold on the rough, slimy rock below them.

SUIT CHARGES FRAUD IN OBTAINING NATURALIZATION

Government, at Request of Turkey, Seeks Cancellation of Citizenship of Syrian, Evading Army Service.

Petition for revocation of naturalization paper granted Joseph Faris, a Turk, was filed in Federal Court by the United States District attorney yesterday, it being charged that he was compelled by Faris in obtaining citizenship.

Faris is now at Kaimaria Corner, Damascus, Syria. He has evaded military service in the Turkish army because of his having been naturalized here. The Turkish Government, contending citizenship was applied for merely to evade military service, requested the United States Government to investigate and the application filed yesterday resulted.

The Government has instituted proceedings of this nature in other sections of the country upon request of foreign Governments, it was said at the Federal building.

PLOT AGAINST STUDENT DENIED

Feeling Against Youth Who Testified in Missouri Case, However.

Admitted.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, June 1.—Two of the students named by Roseon Conkling Fitch of Ludington, Mich., a junior at Northwestern University, as having told him a vigilance committee had been formed to keep him off the campus as a result of his testimony in the investigation of the disappearance of his roommate, Leighton Mount, after a class rush in 1921, yesterday denied that there was any such organization.

They told the State's Attorney that there was a "feeling" against Fitch, but that no organization had been formed against him. One said he had told Fitch of that situation. Young Fitch, who had been asked to return here, telephoned from his home in Ludington that he did not wish to pursue the matter further.

WISDOM OF EAST OBJECT OF SEARCH BY PHILOSOPHERS

Gathering About Gurdjieff Institute in Forest of Fontainebleau, They Seek to Learn What Residents Know.

By RHETA CHILDE DORR, Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

This is the first of a series of three articles on the Gurdjieff Institute at Fontainebleau.

PARIS, France, May 12.—In the "Light of the East," of which many idealists have long dreamed a delusion or has it reality? Is there a wisdom in the hills of India or on the high wastes of Tibet which the more cultured west has not yet attained? It is certain that any prophet or teacher who claims the smallest part of that secret wisdom can always get a following.

Into the romantic old forest of Fontainebleau the Gurdjieff Institute is drawing an expectant crowd of students, writers, physicians, psychologists and savants from half a dozen countries of the world. The forest which borders the Fontainebleau is particularly attracting the attention of England, France and the United States, and from all three have been sent writers and correspondents to describe their work. Some of these writers have gone away baffled with nothing to write. Some have written patent nonsense and falsehood. One writer only, in the New Statesmen of London, has dealt intelligently with the philosophers of Fontainebleau, and the gist of his first article was that the more he knew the less he felt inclined to write. The new philosophy is so deep and esoteric that it requires almost a new brain to understand. Language Difficulties for Americans.

Thirty-seven miles from Paris, at some distance from the town of Fontainebleau-Avon, which holds the famous chateau, and is visited each summer by thousands of tourists, the forest philosophers have formed their circle. Their background could hardly be more picturesque. In an estate of about 50 acres, comprising woods, fields and gardens and orchards, stands an old French chateau large and rambling, finished in first Empire style and holding many works of art. The chateau, surrounded by high stone walls, is the home of the philosophers. The woods, fields and orchards are their workshop and classrooms. But what they study and what they do are not so easy to discover, nor are these, when discovered, simple to describe.

The head of the Gurdjieff Institute speaks no language which the average American can understand, and of the students and instructors about half are Russian. Many of these speak French, and there are among the 55 residents some English and even American. The inquiry, however, goes on, and the information from students who say frankly that they are seeking little, that they are seeking and finding, but as yet have nothing to tell. The responsible hostess of the chateau, a charming and obviously intellectual Russian woman in her early thirties, is willing enough to answer questions, but she tells you that the only way to get information is to qualify as a student and remain in the movement long enough to become self-enlightened.

Studying in the Mysterious East. A few weeks ago the Institute and its leaders are unearthing. At least a quarter of a century ago a young man, said to be of Greek origin, one who had spent part of his youth in Persia, succeeded in interesting two Russian savants in the idea of going into the mysterious East as students and seeking after its fabled wisdom. Within five years the small group was increased to 20, men, mostly Russians. All were intellectuals, many holding high reputations in science and art. Together the investigators set out for that terra incognita which lay somewhere between Eastern Persia and Tibet. Here they separated, each man undertaking to gain entrance into some school or circle where wisdom might be sought.

Some of the investigators dropped permanently out of sight. If living still they have become too absorbed, perhaps, to care to leave the East. Some of the investigators returned after a time to Russia, but only to organize another group of seekers. A few, including Gurdjieff, after years of work in Eastern schools, returned to Europe and had been engaged on site in working out and making practical the great mass of material they brought home. They have described the almost insurmountable difficulties under which this material was gathered. It was necessary for them to master strange tongues before they were accepted in the "schools" and in some cases they were obliged to remain years as neophytes before they could even faintly understand the language.

Forming the Western Institute. Gurdjieff formed small circles of students in Petrograd and Moscow, but the Russian revolution swept them out of existence. In exile in 1915 Gurdjieff met a Russian mathematician and psychologist of established fame and this man became his disciple. Gurdjieff, the mathematician, Ouspensky, and perhaps two or three others are the only real Western adepts in a word application of the new philosophy.

Gurdjieff resides now in the main castle, re-established since last October in the forest of Fontainebleau. Ouspensky spends most of his time in London lecturing or elucidating the principles of the philosophy along its psychological lines, and is being taken very seriously by English intellectuals, especially physicians and scientists interested in the phenomena of hyperconsciousness. Musician also, because music plays an important part in the system—if it is a system—are increasingly drawn to the Institute and to the study circles in London.

The material brought from the East by Gurdjieff and his colleagues is declared to cover or at least to include virtually every branch of human knowledge, and it is asserted that in all branches except that of the therapeutic values of sun and artificial rays. But in the East they know far more of the underlying principles.

At the Fontainebleau Institute there is a fully equipped medical-electrical laboratory directed by men who impress the observer as responsible scientists. Here will be studied with Western apparatus the principles known in the "schools" of the East. We know that the human body harbors deadly disease germs and that, while most of the time these germs are quiescent, at other times they become active and virulent. In the Eastern "schools" they may know little or nothing of the appearance of, say, the tuberculosis germ. But they know how to use certain forces of the body to comfort the germ. Part of the work of the

Gurdjieff Institute appears to be attainment of those mysterious forces

CALL TO CHURCHES TO SUPPORT WORLD COURTFederal Council Asks 125,000
Congregations to Back Proposal for U. S. Entry.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—A call to 125,000 congregations in America to rally to the support of President Harding's proposal that the United States enter the permanent Court of International Justice was issued yesterday by the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

"A day of great decision for our country and the world has now arrived," said the council, adding that the issue which the World Court presents embodies the age-long conflict between law and force.

"Today, around the earth," the message continued, "the people know that if nations are to survive they must subject their individual wills to established processes of law, their individual interest to the welfare of all mankind. All that the Christian Church has built up in the hearts and minds of the people through centuries of effort hangs in the balance."

"For war in the future, aided by the powers of science, simply means self-destruction. The appeal to the sword can be abolished by one means—the means already found effective within the state—by building up an appeal to law instead. That is exactly the purpose of the permanent Court of International Justice. In it, we see a great advance in the long struggle of man to civilize himself."

Strong Opposing Forces.

"There will be strong forces at work in the country," the statement continued, "opposing the action recommended by the President. Some will conjure up dangers to frighten doubtful minds. Others may oppose it because it does not fit all well in outlawing war. Although this is true, the establishment of the court is a most important practical step in this direction. Surely, we should not hesitate to take the first step because it is not a complete solution all at once."

"The court is not a 'private' court of the League of Nations. By a decision of the Council of the League on May 12, 1922, it has been opened to all the world. In most cases each nation has to consent to the establishment of the court before the court can deal with the dispute. An optional clause in the treaty establishing the court has now been ratified, in most cases upon condition of reciprocity, by 18 states, giving the court jurisdiction of every dispute between these states in which was involved any question of international law, or of interpretation of a treaty, or of breach of an international obligation."

"Write to President."

Under the caption "What To Do," the Council recommends:

"Write to President, Harding assuring him of your full support."

"Write to your United States Senators expressing your strong desire that the Senate should approve promptly the commendation of the President."

"Arrange for a forum or other meeting for a discussion of the principles at stake in the court and of America's responsibility in its development."

BILL FOR SMOKE ABATEMENT TO BE INTRODUCED TODAY

Author of It Declares Immediate Passage Is Necessary if Bureau Is to Be Ready by Fall.

The new bill for smoke abatement, prepared by E. T. Ohle, professor of mechanical engineering in Washington University, who is chairman of the Advisory Committee of Engineers for enforcement of the present ordinance, will be introduced the Board of Aldermen today.

Prof. Ohle declared that immediate passage will be necessary if the new bureau provided for is to be organized and ready to function when the autumn period of increased smoke production arrives. Swift, unimpeded action will be necessary if the bill is to be passed before adjournment of the board for its summer vacation, which is set for about June 15. The ordinance carries an emergency clause making it effective immediately upon passage.

John H. Gundrich, chairman of a new Committee of Smoke Abatement appointed yesterday by President Vesper of the Chamber of Commerce, said today that he would advise the committee to strive for immediate action by the Aldermen. He will call a meeting of the committee for next Monday or Tuesday.

COST A POSSIBLE SOURCE OF DELAY.

Possible source of discussion and delay in the ordinance is the cost of establishing the new bureau. The bill provides for a Commissioner of Smoke Regulation, an assistant, eight inspectors, a stenographer and a clerk, at a total annual salary of approximately $27,500.

Other features of the ordinance do not differ greatly from the present ordinance, except that the period in any one hour in which dense smoke may be emitted is shortened from eight to six minutes.

It is Prof. Ohle's contention that the present ineffectiveness of smoke enforcement is due to underpaid, unqualified inspectors and the absence of any separate bureau having as its sole function the elimination of smoke.

He agrees with President Vesper of the Chamber of Commerce, who, in announcing the new Smoke Committee, said that the problem was one of education and co-operation, with the new ordinance a club of last resort. It is believed that industrial producers of smoke, if shown that economies of operation can be effected by smokeless combustion under boilers, will become supporters of the new ordinance, and that the amount of smoke in the city's atmosphere will thereby be greatly reduced.

SMOKE REDUCED 80 PER CENT.

The appointment of the new Chamber Committee follows the recent appearance before the members' conference of H. P. Meller, dean of the college of mines of the University of Pittsburgh, and chief of smoke enforcement in that city. Meller declared that industrial smoke in Pittsburgh had been reduced 80 per cent in 10 years, and that the most ardent supporters of enforcement were industrial operators who formerly were the greatest offenders.

Every spoonful of Kellogg's Bran helps free you from toxic poisons!Constipation is largely responsible for auto-intoxication that leads to dangerous diseases unless it is not only checked but permanently relieved.

Constipation, in fact, is the basis of a majority of human ailments which could be headed off if people would only help rid themselves of this serious health-undermining condition, which can be easily done.

Constipation must be fought to a finish—not with pills and cathartics which are dangerous to health—but to the delicate subtleties of the intestinal and temporary at best—but with nature's greatest cereal health food—Bran—

Kellogg's Bran, which is as delicious

as it is beneficial.

Kellogg's Bran is wonderful in its work because it is ALL BRAN. And, to get permanent relief, ALL BRAN is a necessity, for it is the "bulk" of the bran that sweeps and purifies, riding the system of poisons and bringing conditions to normal. Eat two tablespoonsfuls daily; as much with each meal in chronic cases—and we guarantee that you will get relief permanently and naturally.Kellogg's Bran is delicious. You do not have to eat it to like it. Eat it as a cereal or sprinkle it or mix with hot or cold cereals. Or, cook it with hot cereals, allowing two tablespoonsfuls for each person. Kellogg's makes wonderful muffins, griddle cakes, raisin bread, macaroons, etc. Recipes

Washington Passes Law to Protect Its Scenic Grandeur

Slashings and Brush Heaps Now Must Be Burned in the Fall.

OLYMPIA, Wash.—State officials are endeavoring to prevent the scenic grandeur of Washington being obscured during the tourist season by smokestacks and brush. A bill was passed in the fall instead of spring as heretofore, according to a new law passed by the Legislature and recently signed by Gov. Hart.

Extra fire equipment is held in reserve at strategic points in the forests and the fire patrol greatly increased where danger of fire is imminent. The State will witness the opening of the dry season this year with better prospects of fire control and prevention than any time in the past. There are 27 counties where lumbering makes the fire hazard require constant patrol and watchfulness. Smoke haze has cost the Northwest states millions of dollars because visitors were unable to see what they came West to see.

SENATOR SMOOT SAYS IN LOS ANGELES TALK THAT SOON VETERANS WILL GET $1,500,000,000 ANNUALLY

By the Associated Press.
LOS ANGELES, June 1.—Reed Smoot, United States Senator from Utah, told members of the Lincoln Club luncheon they gave in his honor yesterday, that "never again will your Federal taxes be less than $3,000,000,000 a year, but probably more."

"The foremost subject of interest to the American people now is taxation," said the Senator. "Before the war that word meant nothing to us, but what a difference now. For 25 years, the dominant question will be how to raise the money for our Government. I am sure the Federal taxes never again will be less than $3,000,000,000 annually."

"To lend than decide, we shall be passing $1,500,000,000 in pensions to world war veterans. It is right and just this should be done but the taxpayers must prepare for the burden."

DETENTION OF BRITISH WOMEN AT ELLIS ISLAND TO BE TAKEN UP

Representations to Be Made to United States, House of Commons Is Told.

Special Cable to the New York World and Post-Dispatch, LONDON, June 1.—The British Government is making representations to the United States Government regarding the refusal to permit British women, first-class passengers, to land in the United States liner President Monroe to land in New York, so Undersecretary of Foreign Affairs, Ronald McNeill stated, in the House of Commons yesterday, replying to a question. He added that instructions have been sent to Ambassador Geddes to see that the passengers are properly cared for and housed until they are permitted to return.

"In the six British subjects who have been taken off a liner at New York and left on Ellis Island were first-class passengers and women and children," says the Evening Standard. "Now, this is a disgraceful action on the part of the United States and should be thoroughly investigated by Great Britain. It does not interest us that the immigration quota from England is exhausted. What we think of is the suspense, humiliation and worry of our countrywomen in distress."

"They had in any case obtained passport visas from American Consuls at two guineas each (about $10.25), and if they are not to be permitted to land, passport visas should not have been granted them. If American women were held up here and sent to the Isle of Dogs while the Home Office considered their case we should never hear the last of it."

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Because Great Britain's immigration quota was exhausted several days ago, Mrs. Esiele Demitron, British bride of an American citizen, who arrived on the steamship President Monroe this week, must be excluded, an Immigration Board decided yesterday. She appealed to Washington. Mrs. Demitron was barred under the alien law stipulating that an alien marrying an American does not become a citizen of this country until she has lived here a year.

STATE ASKED TO APPROVE SALE OF STOCK TOTALING $3,330,000

Guy Wilson, One of Traffic Truck Firm Organizers, Promoting New Truck Enterprise.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, June 1.—The State Department of Finance has been asked by the State Treasury of an aggregate of $3,330,000 of no par value stock in three corporations being formed by Guy Wilson of St. Louis, who was one of the leading organizers of the Traffic Truck Corporation.

Wilson is now promoting a new truck business with the announced intention of marketing an assembled truck, with his base of operations in St. Louis. With him are associated R. H. Dorsey, J. W. Schoelch, W. P. Erhart, H. J. Bube, Ed Reider, L. J. Rehmstädter and City Counselor George F. Hartman of St. Louis. These men have formed their three corporations—Victor Motor Corporation, which is the truck company; the Automotive Finance Co., which is the financing corporation, and the Wilson Securities Co., which is to handle their securities, under the laws of Delaware. The motor concern has 300,000 shares of no par value stock, the automotive company 30,000 shares and the securities company 3000 shares, all to be sold at $10 a share. The same men are concerned in the formation of each.

The plan is to take the stock of the three so that purchasers paying $1000 would buy $900 of Victor, $70 of Automotive and $10 of Securities. B. T. Hurwitz, Deputy Commissioner of Finance in charge of administration of the securities act, has not passed upon the application yet.

CASE OF NEW YORK, WET OR DRY, NOW UP TO GOV. SMITH

FINAL ARGUMENTS FOR AND AGAINST BILL REPEALING ENFORCEMENT ACT ALL IN

Drys Contend That Wets Want to Substitute
"The Sidewalks of New York" for
"The Star Spangled Banner."

By CHARLES S. HAND,
A Staff Correspondent of the Post-
Dispatch and New York World.

ALBANY, June 1.—Shall "The Sidewalks of New York" be substituted for "The Star-Spangled Banner" as America's national anthem?

It will be proclaimed the drys at yesterday's hearing before Gov. Smith on the Mullan-Gage prohibition enforcement repealer, if the Governor doesn't write a veto. If the Governor fails to sign or veto the repeal bill by Sunday midnight it will die then at the expiration of the 30-day time limit. He has announced he will not dodge the issue, but will sign or veto the bill.

Col. Hayward, United States Attorney for the Southern District of New York, in championing the dry cause, put "The Sidewalks of New York" and "The Star-Spangled Banner" in conflict when he appealed to the Governor to fill the law enforcement repealer.

In Hayward's opinion, "The Sidewalks of New York," a tune long associated with Gov. Smith because it sprang from the environment when it glorifies "typifies the demand for restoration of beer." "The Star-Spangled Banner" in contradiction, is emblematic of a united nation facing an unbroken front the foes of law and order.

"If there comes a note of discord between "The Sidewalks of New York" and "The Star-Spangled Banner,"" exclaimed Col. Hayward, "there should be no doubt which you will choose Governor. We know you will sing "The Star-Spangled Banner."

Augustus Thomas Indignant.

Resenting what he conceived to be Hayward's slur upon the song long identified with Gov. Smith and the Bowery, Augustus Thomas, for the wets, was quick to utter indignant protests.

"Governor" solemnly announced the playwright, when his turn to speak came, to give Col. Hayward an option—"to withdraw the choice he has offered you."

Thomas paused, his arms extended imploringly toward the Federal attorney. Hayward smiled, but remained silent. Dramatically Thomas resumed:

"Then, Governor, if there is a constitutional right residing in the sidewalks of New York—and I am sure there is—it is your duty to protect it."

Several of the Governor's "cabaret," including high officials who were expressed themselves as indignant at Hayward's taking of "The Star-Spangled Banner" while "The Sidewalks of New York." They agreed Hayward had "insulted the Governor of the State of New York" by attempting a reflection on his origin among the plain people.

People of the Sidewalks.

"It gives the Governor a great opportunity," said one of the Commissioners, "to answer this carpet-bagger from Nebraska. He can say that his opportunity to rise from the sidewalks of New York was due to the spirit of "The Star-Spangled Banner." At his other elbow reclined Wayne B. Wheeler, national counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, who had come from Washington to present legal and constitutional points against the repealer.

The hearing was interspersed with charges and counter-charges, involving the League of Women Voters and other political and quasi-political organizations which the drys claimed were lined up with them. Toward the end, when Senator Theodore Roosevelt, a nephew of the late President, "had his fall" out of the drys assisted by Col. Gillett and Eugene Johnson of the American Liberties League, several voices arose and said that the League of Women Voters was not for law enforcement as exemplified in the Mullan-Gage act.

Gompers' Argument.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, detained at Washington on official business, sent a long letter which was read by James P. Holland, president of the State Federation of Labor. This was regarded as one of the strongest arguments for approval of the repealer. In part, Gompers wrote:

"Surely, Governor, you are as well informed as anyone can be of the dire results which have followed in the wake of the atrocious situations which have resulted from the so-called Volstead prohibition enforcement. The increase of drunkenness, the use of narcotics, the increase of crime waves, the death blindness, insanity and, above all, the corruption which has permeated almost every avenue of our Federal, State and Local Government, the flouting contempt of that law and consequent greater disregard for all law and authority."

Oath to Support Constitution.

Col. Hayward, as the star orator for the drys, had intimated that Gov. Smith could not sign the enforcement repealer and remain true to his oath of office.

"Hayward has said," remarked Thomas, in answer, "that there is an understanding between him and District Attorney Banton of New York that there shall be no double prosecutions for violation of the dry laws. Then you say, Governor, about your oath to support the Constitution, which is like his own. And Hayward violates his own when he doesn't prosecute everyone who violates the prohibition laws and that, I think, constitutes a felony near to pounding a felon."

Later Col. Hayward came in for another pounding from Col. Ransom H. Gillett, counsel for the Association Opposed to the Prohibition Amendment, when Col. Gillett admonished him to hurry back to New York and abide by his oath of office by prosecuting 16,000 persons guilty of infractions of the Volstead act.

Gov. Smith As a Listener.

Throughout the long afternoon, while arguments were thundered at him, the spectators longed for some indication of how the debate was to end. He did not indicate, Gov. Smith vouchsafed no indication of his verdict would be. He has since refused to make one word of comment. Both sides are claiming they have won him over, but the betting is eight to five that the Governor will approve the repealer.

Viewed as a demonstration either for or against Volsteadism, the throng that filled the Assembly Chamber fell far short of the momentous proportions of previous spectacles staged by both wets and drys.

Albany, which expected crowds of unusual proportions, processions of white-ribboned drays up Capitol Hill and bands leading the wet contingent, experienced disappointment. Nothing approaching a big demonstration was attempted by either side.

No special trains arrived bearing raucous wets or dignified drys, as was the case in past years when acts of strength were made at the Capitol. The干s, who didn't display the spirit of crusade, nor did the enemies of prohibition assume a turbulent attitude so characteristic of them in past years.

The Governor, when he entered the assembly chamber, was greeted with applause that was respectful, not over-enthusiastic. Gov. Smith, garbed in cutaway and with a flower in the lapel of his coat, bowed his appreciation, and, before setting himself, nodded to Canon William Sheafe Chase of Brooklyn, head of the church lobby, who had fronted the front.

Smiles at Haywood.

During the first two hours of the arguments given over to the drys, Gov. Smith listened intently. A smile of amazement, incredulous, creased his face when Col. Haywood, never indexed as a teetotaler, was introduced by William H. Anderson, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, to do the heavy oratory for the enemies of law enforcement.

Col. Haywood's appearance as champion of the anti-nullificationists started a report that he had been selected by William H. Anderson as the "joy killers" candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination next fall. Col. Haywood's one elbow, Anderson, and his wife, Ida Samuels Woodruff, former Republi- can member of the Assembly from Suffolk, who was master of ceremonies for the drys. At his other elbow reclined Wayne B. Wheeler, national counsel for the Anti-Saloon League, who had come from Washington to present legal and constitutional points against the repealer.

The hearing was interspersed with charges and counter-charges, involving the League of Women Voters and other political and quasi-political organizations which the drys claimed were lined up with them. Toward the end, when Senator Theodore Roosevelt, a nephew of the late President, "had his fall" out of the drys assisted by Col. Gillett and Eugene Johnson of the American Liberties League, several voices arose and said that the League of Women Voters was not for law enforcement as exemplified in the Mullan-Gage act.

Majority and the Minority.

The other side says that the majority must do the will of the minority. Yes, they must, unless that law invades the rights of the minority, then it is the duty of the minority to resist.

Cheers punctuated this remark, and Thomas drew from his pocket a copy of the New York World and a editorial declaring that New York State's laws should not be made subject to the will of Congress.

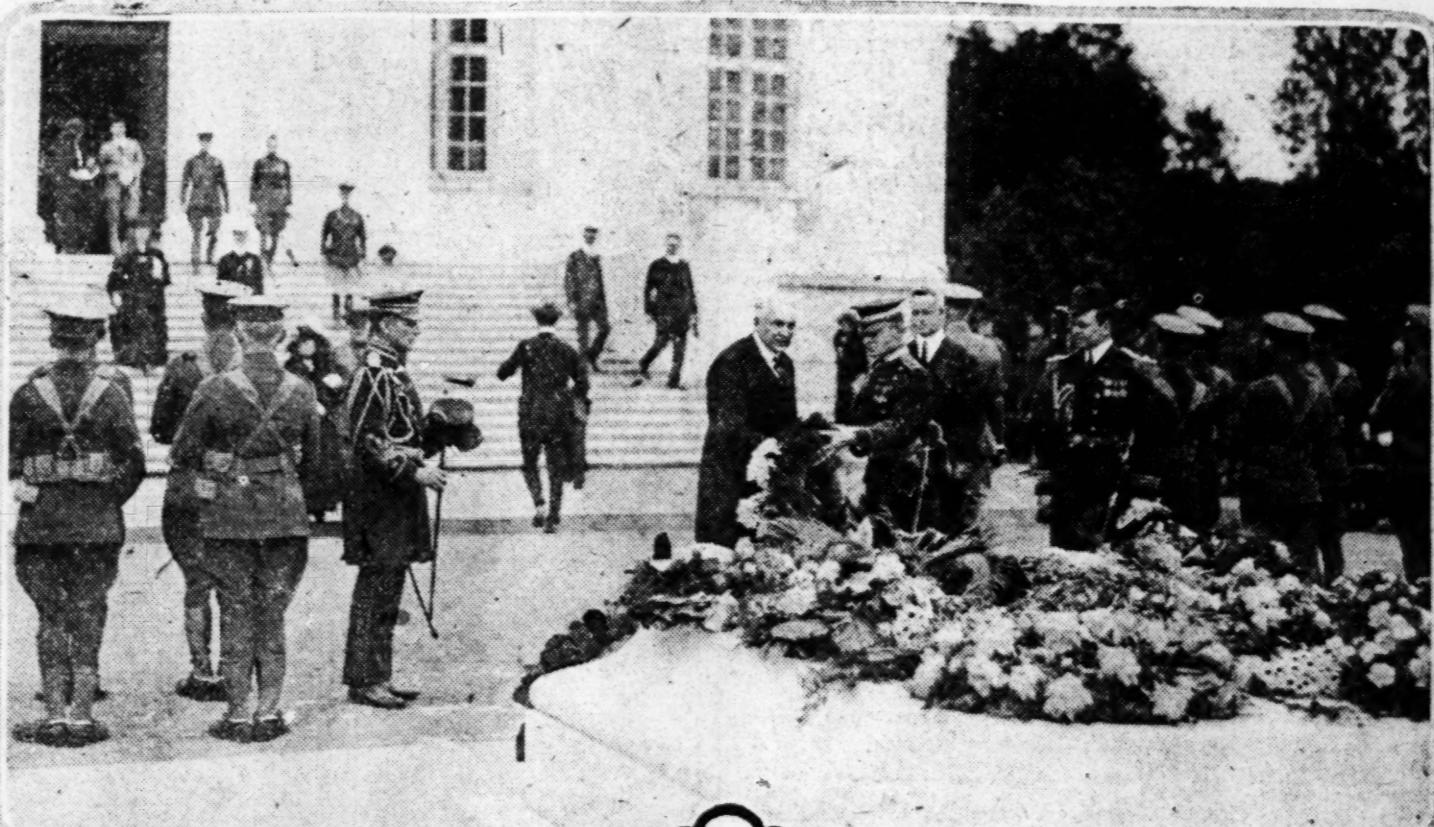

Characterizing the Mullan-Gage as tactless and destructive of constitutional guarantees, Thomas dwelt upon that feature of it which puts an offender in double jeopardy. Shaking his fist at the white-ribboned drys, Thomas exclaimed:

"Theirs is the earnestness of fanaticism. A great man once said that there was no ferocity like that of an ignorant fanatic."

Quoting at length from the writings of Thomas Jefferson to establish his contention that neither a constitutional amendment nor an act of Congress could strip the people of inalienable rights such as they had been deprived of through summary legislation, Thomas reminded them that the poor man was suffering for the evils of his beer and not the beer.

CITIZEN BOND

Funds to Carry Out Its Conception of Its Purpose.

MAYOR QUOTED AS APPROVING THE STAND

View Is That Experts Should Be Employed to Report on Projects When Advice Is Deemed Necessary.

The Citizens' committee appointed to supervise expenditures under the $87,000,000 bond issue voted last February yesterday adopted a report of a sub-committee asserting that the committee considered the scope of its authority to be not only to supervise expenditures but to employ expert advisers whenever it deemed necessary.

The committee held that it should be provided with ample facilities to make investigations and that the city should provide it with all funds needed to carry out its conception of its purpose. Frank H. Gerhart was the only member opposing adoption of the report, his position being that city departments were equipped with experts who would be available to the committee.

Gerhart deplored a tendency to "regulate everything and everybody." President Campbell declared that paternalism had become the order of the day. He defined good law as good sense, and good sense, he said, is to be determined by the deliberate judgment of the generality of the people.

"Unless sensible men come to the rescue we will be a Government of laws with a statute determining every action, instead of individual responsibility determining our conduct," declared Campbell. "That statement does not involve a discussion of the prohibition question. You and I may agree or disagree upon the necessity for the Eighteenth Amendment, but it is the supreme law of the land, in the manner provided by law. *** and good citizens will obey it while it is in the Constitution. The only right a citizen has is to seek in the lawful and regular way to change the fundamental law. Disagreement with the fundamental law does not confer upon any man the right to disregard or disobey it."

Cities Growth of Statute.

Campbell pointed out that one of the editions of the Illinois statutes for 1921 contains 2014 pages of fine print with double columns. Each page contains approximately 1050, or a total of more than 2,800,000 words, as his data showed. The revised statutes of 1874, he said, was a single volume of 1105 pages, totaling 68,000 words, thus indicating the growth of the statute law since 1874.

He said that in theory state laws represent the judgment of the people acting through their chosen representatives, but in many instances this is false.

"Those who have served as members of legislative bodies," he said, "know how often an enacted law does not reflect the deliberate judgment of the majority of the people, but many times reflects the wishes and views of a small minority who, with noise and energy, convince our lawmakers either that they represent the majority of the people or that they represent a balance of power that may determine the result of an election."

"If all our laws and ordinances were strictly enforced our people would rise up in righteous rebellion unless he had the means to thoroughly investigate the details of the project."

David Kreyling, secretary of the Central Trades and Labor Union, a member of the committee, said that as the bond issue expenditures would extend over a period of many years and probably through several administrations, it was advisable that a nonpartisan committee be appointed to be in charge of the expenditure.

The committee approved or the recommendations recommended by Water Commissioner Wall for the expenditure of $1,000,000 on the proposed new water plant this year. Of this $250,000 will be for the building of an intake tower and engine pits, $50,000 for pipe line right of way and $100,000 for railroad switches and grade.

An ordinance providing for the expenditure of $500,000 for a one-mile section of the work to convert the River des Peres into a sewer, recommended by President Kinsey of the Board of Public Service, was also approved. This first work will extend from the intersection of Leamington road and Wellington avenue to Southwest avenue, and its completion will make possible its use during the conversion of the remainder of stream.

Permission to employ two members of the staffs of engineering departments at Washington University to assist in planning the new municipal lighting system and the power plant provided under the $7,000,000 bond issue will be requested soon of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment by Director of Public Utilities.

He wishes to engage the services of H. G. Hake, associate professor of the electrical engineering department, to assist in planning the general system to be used in the placing of the new lights and the placing of power lines, and Frank A. Berger, assistant professor of mechanical engineering, to help with the power plant, which is to furnish service for municipal buildings only and for which $1,000,000 is provided in the bond issue. The item for the new electric street lighting system totals $5,000,000.

HOSPITAL CORNERSTONE
LAID BY KING GEORGE GREW AUTHORIZED TO SIGN PACT WITH TURKS

Generosity of Rockefeller Who Endowed London Institution Praised.

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—King George and Queen Mary, surrounded by British medical scientists, in the picturesquely academic robes, yesterday laid the cornerstone of the hospital buildings being added to the University College Hospital and London University groups as a result of the £1,250,000 gift (£6,000,000) from the Rockefeller Foundation.

As you shall approve the repealing bill, the chief duty for the enforcement of the Volstead Act will rest upon the Federal Government.

There is no doubt that the riper judgment of our people will and expression in the Congress of the United States considering and calling upon the popular will for a reasonable modification of the drastic and unjust provisions of the Volstead law.

By approving the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law you can thereby bring back wine and beer, but you can keep people from being punished twice when they have had the luck to get a little bit of something once.

Hayward's Enforcement Plea.

Epitomized, Haywood's plea was for the State to refrain from executing an about face "and thus desert him and other United States District Attorneys who are in the same boat." In part Col. Haywood said:

"As you have pointed out, Governor, no relief on light wines and beer can come except from Congress, the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law would be but a gesture, futile so far as legalizing beer is concerned, but vicious in that it would invite in the State of New York the manufacture and sale and transportation of the worst kind of poisonous liquors."

One of the principal arguments I have heard is that you will induce our Excellency to sign the bill of our State Act has been the "steal and aray" hoax. In the first place, in all the thousands of cases in the State and Federal courts in New York I believe there is no instance of prosecution by the Federal authorities following State prosecution, or vice versa.

I am sure that that is the case in my district. It seems to me that the most fallacious argument, however, is offered for the repeal of the Mullan-Gage law is the one that under it there has been dishonesty and grafting by the police. Since it is bestow'd by a citizen of the United States of America upon a college and hospital in London, and thus upon the people of Great Britain and the Empire.

It has been said that science knows no frontiers and indeed the declared purpose of the trustees is to promote the well-being of mankind throughout the world. That they should have selected the University of London to receive this princely endowment is a mark of high and deserved compliment.

The creation of yet another of sympathy and friendship which link us with the United States, but it is also evidence and declaration of their conviction that the progress of science and the welfare of mankind is not delimited by national or racial boundaries and that the work done here in London for the relief of human suffering, the improvement of medical education and the advance of science is of service to the whole world."

The drys asserted that Gov. Smith during the last campaign obligated himself to veto a repeal of the Mullan-Gage act. Their contention in this respect was voiced by Mrs. Woodruff, who said:

"Before the last election, Mr. Governor, you were sent and gave full reply to a questionnaire from the League of Women Voters. These questions nine in number, were of greater importance than any others, which are now before the people. Heading these nine questions were the words:

"Are you for or against the following?"

The seventh question was: "Are you for or against co-operation for the enforcement of a Federal law?" To which your answer was: "For." This was the reason why, Mr. Governor, tens of thousands of Republicans as well as Democratic women rallied to your support."

Mrs. Ella Boole, State president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, said: "Your signature would place New York before the world in the light of refusing to co-operate in the enforcement of a Federal law. It would repeat all State laws for dealing with violators in New York."

He quoted legal opinions and drew from them the inference that the Federal Government would not be able to prosecute successfully distributors of wine and beer should the cases be carried to the highest courts.

Hitherto the allies have insisted upon keeping troops in Turkey until the treaty was ratified by all the powers, but Ismet Pasha insisted upon the good effect of peace would be advanced by withdrawal of the foreign forces at the earliest possible moment.

Stepping on Seattle's Toes.

Young people of May 11 there was an interesting story captioned, "St. Louis Full Healthiest City in U. S. for Children." Health Commissioner Starkloff was quoted as saying: "St. Louis is maintaining the position it held last year as the healthiest city in the country for children." Believing that the Post-Dispatch wishes to publish accurate information, you are advised that the St. Louis death rate, quoted by Commissioner Starkloff, is 56.8 per 1000 during the first year of infancy. The corresponding rate in Seattle last year was 49 per 1000 births.

Official Government figures prove Seattle's claim to not only being the healthiest city in the United States for adults, over the period of the last 15 years, but also for babies. Seattle has not had as high an infant mortality rate as the St. Louis since 1917, which was during the first year of the war, and during that year the St. Louis rate was very much higher than now. Seattle's mortality rate for children under 5 years, as well as under 1 year, is also the lowest in the United States, and the mortality rate for tuberculosis is the lowest in the nation. The annual death rate in Seattle for the last 15 years has averaged 9.75 per 1000 population. Recent scientific investigation shows that the relation between temperature and humidity is right in Seattle to produce a healthy, vigorous and resisting race. There are no extremes of heat or cold here, and this climatic advantage is reinforced with the advantage of year-around out-of-door sports, an excellent natural drainage system, green foodstuffs the year around and a strict supervision of sanitation and food supplies.

There is no question but what St. Louis is one of the healthiest cities of the United States, and its death rate among babies is low, but it is not in keeping with the facts to say that St. Louis is the healthiest city in the United States for children. In the interests of accuracy, would the Post-Dispatch please publish this communication?

SEATTLE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE,
HAROLD CRARY, Assistant Secretary.

Editors Have No Time to Fish.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
I BELIEVE that the sportsmen would be interested to know about when crappie and bass are likely to spawn, in lakes in this vicinity, and I find that very many have no idea as to the time, and it would be beneficial to many local fishermen and the sporting fraternity to get some reliable information. It would seem to me that the open winter we had would affect spawning time, and also running water or lakes, might be different. Please enlighten us. FISHERMEN.

Celebrating the Fourth.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
THE local post of the American Legion feels that the Fourth of July has descended into a sort of allround street fair, and that some movement is necessary to bring to the people a realization of what our Independence day really means.

Accordingly, the members of this post are planning a patriotic-military celebration for July 4, 1923. They will enter all the Legion posts in the section of the country to gather at Abingdon for military drills and parades, sham battles, pageants floating the colors in the morning, and lowering them at night. Patriotic addresses will be given and the celebration will close with a military ball at night.

The success of a movement of this character depends upon its securing the endorsement of deep-thinking people. Therefore, we would like for the Post-Dispatch to make any suggestions it deems appropriate.

HARRY E. WILES POST.

Abingdon, Ill.

The Segregation Question.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
BELIEVING you to be fair and just to the public, I send this letter for publication:

Last Friday's Post-Dispatch had a statement, attributed to Mr. McCawley, president of his Real Estate Exchange, on the segregation of the negro.

I am anxious to know how long Mr. McCawley has been a resident of the city of St. Louis, because my family has been here over 40 years. My mother and father both born here and have always lived here. We have been good citizens and feel that we have contributed as much to the commonwealth as he. I own property, contribute to church and charity and possibly do as much to uplift my people as he does his. Then why should he say where I should live, or where I should not live, simply because I am a negro? People who have high ideals endeavor to raise the submerged, and do not strike them down when they are climbing. Probably Mr. McCawley intends to carry his idea farther, by advocating the isolation of the Irish, Germans, Jews, Italians, French, Russians, etc. for the benefit of visitors to this polyglot city, by establishing a general source of information, then it will only be necessary to state the nationality you wish, and guess the taxi speeds you to that burg, where one will find all their kith and kin.

NELLIE AGEE.

SPEAK AGAIN, MR. CRAWFORD.

Some recent spokesmen for the K. K. K. have attempted to show that it really has high aims and aspirations; that while objecting to certain classes and races, it would not do anything illegal to enforce its objections. Not so the Rev. C. C. Crawford, pastor of a St. Louis Christian church. At the Klan demonstration in St. Louis County he spoke right out, telling how the Klan had ruined the business of 18 Greek restaurant keepers in an Oklahoma City and driven them from the town. And he expressed the hope that the Klan would succeed in driving all the other Greek restaurant men out of the country, from coast to coast. He also announced the intention of the K. K. K. to defeat Gov. Smith of New York when election day came, not only because of action he might take on the Mullan-Gage bill, but BECAUSE HE IS AN IRISHMAN.

Speak again, Mr. Crawford. Let us know in how many ways your beloved Klan is interfering with other people's business, bulldozing and ruining men whom it dislikes, setting itself up as dictator and attempting to start a war of race and religious hatred in our peaceful America.

The conviction for embezzlement of Arthur O. Meininger, cashier of the wrecked Night and Day Bank, at Union, Mo., marks the beginning of the vindication of law in an extraordinary mess of criminality in the management of the bank.

The impatience of the public over the law's delay in this bank case, in which over a million dollars belonging to depositors was lost, was becoming acute. It seemed that the guilty might escape punishment, as too often has been the case. But the conviction of Meininger and his sentence of five years in prison on one of the 42 felony cases against him is cheering news that justice still is working in the courts.

The public cannot judge where guilt lies in wholesale thievery, crookedness and carelessness of this kind, but the public expects the courts to discover where the guilt lies and do their full duty. Nothing less will satisfy the public, because nothing less will vindicate law and deter others from similar crimes in places of trust.

But history has shown repeatedly how whole countries can be drenched with blood through the long-continued and persistent stirring up of religious and race animosities. And there is always a large majority not involved directly in the strife, but who must suffer through the period while the struggle lasts. The Thirty Years' War was a case in point.

It is time for state and national governments and legislatures to take steps to curb this law-defying organization whose speakers boast of ruining men innocently engaged in making a living, and whose record and methods are a menace to peace and order. The New York law, compelling publicity, should be the rule everywhere. American government and an invisible "empire" cannot exist side by side.

AN INDEEDABLE "ECONOMY."

With abundant funds available to operate one of the most needed educational activities of the city it is amazing that the Board of Education should not continue this activity. We speak of the manual training and supervised recreation branch of the summer session of 20 schools in St. Louis. Since 1907, with the exception of one year, this service has been offered the children of the city. This year, unless action is quickly taken to reverse a previous decision, that service will be discontinued "for lack of funds."

This is the ostensible reason given for denying the needed recreational support. It is not the real reason. The work would cost the board $65,000. But the board has already recommended a 3-cent reduction in the school tax rate, which means the curtailment of the school fund by $600,000. This cut is in addition to the elimination of a levy of 2 cents for the former bonded debt sinking fund. The school tax is to be cut from 88 cents on the $100 assessed valuation to 82 cents, and, as it stands now, the schools are to be without an important service which would cost little more than 5 per cent of the scheduled reduction in the tax.

The value of this service is almost inestimable. It draws children from idleness in hot tenements, back alleys, streets and dangerous environment to clean play in the open air, where body, mind and character will profit. As a sample of the value of this service in the estimation of parents, the Parent-Teachers' Association of the Hamilton district has voted from its treasury $800 for school playground equipment and will obtain supervision by arrangement with the Park Commissioner.

Some members of the Board of Education like to GO TO IT, DAVID!

(From the New Orleans Times-Picayune)

evade responsibility by claiming that recreation is not education but is a civic service instead. That reason is worthless. The city's playgrounds are sadly inadequate. They are to be increased by the bond issue, but that is no present help. Recreation, in any case, is a part of education, the most indispensable, experts say, in a child's development. What a farce, if the children of the city are to be denied recreation because of lack of playgrounds while the school playgrounds are closed because the board has made the academic decision that recreation is not education!

Thomas W. Lawson intends to make $10,000,000 in Wall street before the end of the year. Say what you will about him, he is no doubt Thomas.

THE MEININGER CONVICTION.

The conviction for embezzlement of Arthur O. Meininger, cashier of the wrecked Night and Day Bank, at Union, Mo., marks the beginning of the vindication of law in an extraordinary mess of criminality in the management of the bank.

The men of spouters of the Crawford brand, bringing the sanctity of the pulpit to the aid of a movement that might cause the most horrible of civil wars, cannot be exaggerated. There are in the United States over 18,000,000 Catholics and about 25,000,000 Protestants, including all non-Catholic denominations. The Klan is doing its best to set these millions fighting. There are over 60,000,000 not enrolled in any church. Does the Klan propose to force these into the Protestant churches? There are nearly 14,000,000 foreign born in the United States. Does the Klan hope to ruin and run out of the country all these millions? And there are nearly 11,000,000 negroes. Certainly the Klan has plenty of opposition.

But history has shown repeatedly how whole countries can be drenched with blood through the long-continued and persistent stirring up of religious and race animosities. And there is always a large majority not involved directly in the strife, but who must suffer through the period while the struggle lasts. The Thirty Years' War was a case in point.

It is time for state and national governments and legislatures to take steps to curb this law-defying organization whose speakers boast of ruining men innocently engaged in making a living, and whose record and methods are a menace to peace and order. The New York law, compelling publicity, should be the rule everywhere. American government and an invisible "empire" cannot exist side by side.

THE FIGHT FOR FREEDOM.

The nation's eyes are turned on Albany, N. Y., where Gov. Smith is listening to the closing arguments on the signing or vetoing of the bill to repeal the State's prohibition enforcement law.

Since the passage of the repeal bill Gov. Smith has been besieged by the contending forces. He has himself said he has not decided what to do. His uncertainty is inspired by political considerations. This attitude does not reveal the Governor at his best, but, after all, it is quite natural. His name is associated with the presidency. It were magnificent, to be sure, for him, to fling away ambition, but there are few men, similarly placed, who would not be similarly influenced. Deplore this as we may, it is a fact.

Yet the fact of Gov. Smith's political future as it turns on his action in this issue is a mere sideshow. The real significance of the Albany occasion is the occasion itself. Its purport is clear.

A grave blunder, though it have the sanction and authority of a place in the Constitution, is blunder still. That is the truth broadcast from Albany and that truth cannot be obscured or overthrown by false interpretations of legality or by specious appeals to emotionalism.

The fight for personal liberty will continue to be waged whether Gov. Smith meets or fails in the test. The scene of battle today is New York. Tomorrow it may be Missouri. The next day another state. The one certainty about it is that the fight cannot stop. The lie masquerading as the law under the name of the Volstead act cannot endure. Concededly it will be a long war. In its shifting fortunes many a bright career will be blighted. The White House may loom fair and inviting on the horizon of many an Al Smith, and suddenly disappear, before the spirit of our Constitution is restored in the United States. But that spirit will be restored. Albany is but a skirmish in the fight for freedom.

LIBERTY ENLIGHTENING CREVE COEUR LAKE.

THE BUTTERFLY.

LITTLE black and gold butterfly, lying there so still, Where is the happy little life that beat its wings so short a while ago?

Whence came your gift of life, where did it go? For a brief space you lived and loved.

And knew pain, too, perhaps, before you died, and moments of pure joy you knew,

Winging your joyous way through the warm sunshine,

Pausing a moment in your airy flight

To woo some flower with your dainty passion, and now you lie, a little broken thing—

Oh, little butterfly, was it worth while?

MARGARET D. BOSWELL.

Sir: From the story of what happened at Creve Coeur Lake, as related by one of your contemporaries:

As he did so, the Rev. Mr. McGhee shouted:

"Boot him out, men!"

Again the reporter announced his intention of resisting if he were attacked, and no person laid hands upon him. This reminded me of the celebrated Irish bull in which the orator said:

There are on this earth many ranges of mountains on which the hand of man has never set foot.

C. A. Randolph: An opportunity to make money comes once in a while. I saw one the other day. It was offered without any strings attached to it. There was nothing said about placing $500 in the bank. There was no discrimination as to sex. No experience was necessary. No special talent need be called into action. It was, indeed, a real opportunity.

I fell into a meditative mood. Thoughts such as these came into my mind: Why should there be any unemployed when there is such an opportunity? Why should I be held up on the street by a sleek-looking individual for 5 or 10 cents? Why should there be any hold-ups of trains and banks when money can be obtained without risk? Why should married women whose husbands' incomes do not allow them to attend the picture show eight days in the week work to make a little extra? Why should I myself, at cafeterias, buy my jewelry in the 10-cent green and shave myself when I can make money in the way this opportunity offers? The effort I must put forth may not come as easily as it did in my boyhood, but now there is a reward instead of punishment for doing the same thing.

I can see only one reason why I am without a well-filled purse every day. I forgot to inscribe on the tablets of my memory the street and the lot where a large sign displayed in large letters these words:

$10.00 Reward For Trespassing.

The following from one of your news stories affords the reader an excellent opportunity to do his own proof reading:

The train carried wreckage and bodies several hundred years before it could be stopped.

I hope the proof reader didn't make it yards or whatever it ought to be this time.

ARTHUR WHIZ-BANG'S COLUMN.

Gov. Al Smith is having a hard time making up his mind to sign or veto the repeal of the Mullan-Gage dry law. Much pressure is being brought to bear upon him, some representing selfish interests in an effort to sway his opinion. What Gov. Smith should do is consult the wishes of the people. If no response is forthcoming, he should ask an unbiased opinion of the American Bar Association. Failing in this, he should call in the editor of this department and settle the thing as it should be settled.

Science and history tell us that Rome was not built in a day. True, perhaps. But today the whole town could be put up in a week.

Little or no plumbing, no light, no interior, no windows, no fence for our modern builders, and the like. Just as the ignorance and superstition of the past is dispelled on both sides of the Atlantic before they are likely to do so in the future. Our common language makes understanding easy when we meet, but it aggravates misunderstanding when we do not. That is why there is real value in political pilgrimages such as that just undertaken by Lord Robert Cecil. The more of them that responsible statesmen of both nations can make the better, provided they behave with his discretion if statesmen would cross the Atlantic more often in this spirit, so that they can be seen in the flesh and their views authoritatively heard, that sympathy and common understanding, without steady co-operation even for the highest purpose, is very difficult, would quickly grow.

* FIRST ANTLINCHING LAW.

From the Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

PENNSYLVANIA's drastic antilynching act, which has just received Gov. Pinchot's signature, evidently was modeled after the Dyer bill, which was introduced in Congress in 1921. Some measures provide for a fine of $10,000 and imprisonment for one year for anyone who has participated in a lynching.

"Pardon me," he said to a woman who stood in the path of the machine, "but would you mind stepping to one side so my chauffeur can drive by?"

"Oh, go to hell!" responded the woman, and hit him with a lemon pie. That's democracy. J. A.

Tibetans Expel Explorer Who Disguises Self as Coolie to Reach Lhassa.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
CALCUTTA, May 1.—Dr. Hugh McGovern, the Irish Buddhist priest who recently succeeded in penetrating the world's greatest rampart of mountains, the Himalayas, behind which lies the forbidden city of Lhassa, has just returned to Darjeeling after having been arrested by British frontier authorities for violating Tibet's sacred ground.

The doctor reports that if his attempts to get into Lhassa he and his four companions suffered intense privations and exposure in the cold mountains.

After battling with snowstorms day and night and being compelled more than once to retrace his steps, McGovern at Hangu was confronted with a strike of his servants, who refused to go further. He had to beat them into submission before they would resume the journey. He kept his ultimate destination secret from his companions, fearing they would desert him if they knew the distance and the hardships. On the desolate mountain pass of Karula the Irish prelate revealed his hideaway. Only under compulsion did his companions continue the journey with him.

To avoid detection by the fanatical Tibetans, Dr. McGovern dyed his hair and painted his whole body so as to look like a native. Thus disguised and attired in the dress of a peasant, he played the role of a third cook. After many weeks of trying experiences and reverses he finally reached Lhassa, only to be apprehended by the Tibetans, who ordered his immediate deportation. He is now with friends in Darjeeling and will return to England.

An American who is planning to enter Tibet is Capt. Merle LaVoy of Seattle, Wash. Armed with credentials from the American State Department and permits from the Chinese Government, LaVoy with a number of American scientists and explorers will leave India late in the fall and start for Thassa.

HARDINGS BOMBARDED WITH FLOWERS BY SCHOOL CHILDREN

Presidential Party Rushed When Witnessing Music Week Program at Ball Park in Washington.
By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 1.—Eight thousand school children gathered in American League Park yesterday to serenade President and Mrs. Harding as a feature of Washington's music week, broke away from their teachers and through a marine guard before the program was concluded and rushing across the field, laid down a barrage of flowers on the presidential party.

What had started as a quiet serenade was turned into a wild rush of eager children who each, anxious to present to the President to Mrs. Harding, a bouquet, took the short course of hurling the flowers. The President and his wife withstood the barrage bravely at first, but soon the bouquets began coming so fast and thick they were compelled to ward off the rain of blossoms.

Most of the program which included songs by the children and numbers by the United States Marine Band and two army bands, had gone off as scheduled. Several hundred little tots of kindergarten age, after completing their exercise, gathered around the presidential stand and seated themselves on the grass. The President shook hands with a number of them.

The sight of the little ones basking in the sun evidently satisfied the much for the older children, and with a wild whoop who rushed from the bleachers onto the field. Marines attempted to hold the boys and girls, but the youngsters slipped through their legs, ducked under their outstretched arms, dodged around them and left them standing guard over empty bleachers.

DENIES THE LOUVRE DISPLAYS
ANY SPURIOUS SCULPTURE

Curator of Paris Museum Declares
It Maintains Authenticity of All Statues.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, June 1.—Published assertions that spurious pieces of sculpture had been sold to the Louvre and were on display there, met with emphatic denial yesterday from Paul Vitre, curator of sculpture in the museum.

"You can say," he told the Associated Press, "that the management of the Louvre officially declared it maintains the authenticity of the incriminated statues entirely."

The authenticity of some of the Louvre statues has been called into question by the society to segregate France, which, the Duke of Périgueux as its president. The Duke was induced to take action when his attention was called to the suspected substitution of a copy for the original statues of the Virgin and Child, in the Church of St. Sauveur-Sur-Ecole, near the forest of Fontainebleau.

The Duke set forth that an Italian modeler, skilled as a worker in stone, especially in giving it an appearance of age in sculpture, told the Duke he had been chosen specially to replace the statue from the church and take a cast of it with a view to making a copy with which it was intended to replace the original in the church. This stone worker is occupied just now in a chateau near Colmar, so the public prosecutor, looking into the charges, sent an inspector to take the evidence. This, according to the Matin, confirmed the Duke's statements.

The commission increased the license fee of employment agents from $50 per year to $2000. Hundreds of negroes are migrating weekly from Mobile to Northern cities.

The Post-Dispatch radio station, KSD, will broadcast a special midnight concert tomorrow night, beginning at 11:30 p. m. The program will be an organ recital presented by Stuart Barrie at the Missouri Theater. The recital is open to the public at the theater's regular price of admission, and half the proceeds will be donated to the Post-Dispatch Ice Fund.

Barrie has arranged his program with special regard to its adaptability to radio broadcasting. It will include such familiar compositions as "Nana," "Narcissus," the berceuse from "Jocelyn," Kreisler's "Caprice Viennoise," and a group from the "Peer Gynt Suite," by Grieg.

One movement from the melodic "Unfinished Symphony" of Schubert and the first movement from Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata" will be the classic selections.

The novelty feature will be an arrangement of the song, "Til We Meet Again," in which Barrie has improvised a piano solo similar to that used by Victor Herbert when he wrote "Kiss Me Again." List in the "Hungarian Rhapsody," Irving Berlin in "Alexander's Rag Time Band," and the Sousa march "Stars and Stripes Forever."

Ownership of Spot Where Richard Coeur de Lion Was Shipwrecked Was in Dispute.

Correspondence of the Associated Press.
BELGRADE, May 3.—Lacroma Island, where Richard Coeur de Lion was shipwrecked when he was sailing up the Dalmatian coast from the Holy Land, figures in a lawsuit recently heard in the Jugo-Slav courts.

The little island, which lies about half a mile from the shore of Ragusa, has had a romantic history. Richard Coeur de Lion built a monastery on it in gratitude for being saved from the sea. More recently it has had two unhappy royal owners, Emperor Maximilian of Mexico and the ill-fated Crown Prince Rudolf of Austria.

Prince Rudolf's daughter, Elizabeth, received the island as a part of her dowry when she married Otto Windschitl, who is concerned in the recent legal proceedings. The town of Ragusa attempted to have the island transferred to the state according to the treaty of St. Germain. But Princess Elizabeth, the owner, who is living divorced from her husband at Baden, asserted that she is no longer a member of the Hapsburg family, as she renounced her right on the occasion of her marriage.

The claim of Ragusa was based upon a precedence case heard in Czechoslovakia in which members of the Hapsburg family lost their property. The claim was upheld and rejected successively by two courts, but before it had time to go through the highest courts, Princess Elizabeth relinquished all her rights in the island for the sum of $125,000, which was paid by the state.

$4000 TO BE OFFERED IN CASH PREMIUMS AT STATE FAIR

More Than $1000 to Be Awarded to Prize-Winning Corn; $2000 in County Display Class.

By the Associated Press. SEDALIA, Mo., June 1.—More than $4000 in cash premiums will be offered in the agricultural department of the 1923 Missouri State Fair, to be held in Sedalia, Aug. 18 to 25, according to an announcement here today by John E. Case, president of the State Board of Agriculture. Case predicts that "with a fair season for Missouri agriculture, we will have an exhibit at Sedalia in August that will be a State fair by itself."

The first prize of $100 in the cotton exhibit has already drawn enough entries to assure the finest display ever put on in Missouri. With more than $1000 to be awarded to prize winning corn, the growers of the State are planning to send their best to the fair, Case said. Among the exhibits will be the ear grown by Alva Mann of Gentry County which won a world's championship at the International Grain Show in 1922.

Two thousand dollars will be awarded in the county display class, a first prize of $500 and 15 additional prizes. Already Andrew, Chariton, Pettis, Scott and Cedar counties have lined up to represent their various sections of the State. Awards will be based mainly on the manner in which the display shows the agricultural resources of the county. Thus the good soil and diversity of crops of certain parts of the State will give such counties no advantage over poorer counties, Case explained.

The Southeast Missouri Agricultural Development Bureau is offering aid and information for the county displays that will go to the fair from its district. This year will be the first in which Southwest Missouri has been represented in the county class.

We Grow New Hair in 90 Days Stop Falling Hair This New Way or Your Money Refunded

Science discovers most all falling, lustreless hair due to simple infection (Sebum). Now quickly overcomes it. Hair actually re-grown on 91 heads in 100.

This is to offer you new hair—lustrous, beautiful, attractive—or money refunded.

It offers, too, to stop falling hair.

If we fail, the treatment costs you nothing. Your own druggist signs the guarantee. Hence you assume no risk.

Thousands of women have made this test. Results are amazing. The charm of wonderful hair is now available to almost any one who chooses to have it.

Why 6 Women in 8 Have Dull, Unattractive Hair

Science has recently made amazing discoveries. It is now known that hair roots seldom really die. They can be revived—given new life.

We have proved that conclusively by re-growing hair on 91 heads in 100.

The method we use is new. Years of exhaustive experiments were spent perfecting it.

Now world-great dermatologists employ these ingredients. Some charge as much as $500 for the same basic treatment.

Falling hair, dull, lifeless hair; hair without sheen or lustre—6 women in 8 have it.

The reason for most of it is a very simple infection. An infected scalp oil called Sebum. This new way quickly overcomes it. It starts to act instantly. The effect is soon marked.

The Infected Sebum in Your Hair

Sebum is an oil. It forms at the follicles of the hair. Its natural function is to supply the hair with oil.

But frequently it becomes infected. It cakes on the scalp; clogs the follicles and plugs them. Go to the mirror and you can see it in your hair, either in the form of dandruff or in that of an oily excretion at the hair roots.

Germs by the millions breed in it, then feed upon the hair. Soon your hair begins falling. You note too how lifeless it appears. In a short time, all the natural lustre and beauty are gone.

But—and note this scientific fact—remove the infected Sebum and the hair reverts back to the softness and brilliancy it displayed when you were a school girl.

The Van Ess treatment accomplishes that result. We know you will doubt it. So we guarantee it.

New hair grown in 90 days. Falling hair stopped. Your own druggist gives you our guarantee to do these things if you buy a 90-day treatment. He signs it. If we fail, your money will be refunded without argument.

We urge you to give this new way a fair trial. It is folly not to test it; for remember, you take no risk.

Go to any druggist or department store today. Ask for the Van Ess Liquid Scalp Massage. Written guarantee is given with 3-bottle purchase.

These two pictures show a cross section of the hair root or bulb and the case which encloses each hair from the root to surface of scalp (greatly magnified). Germ infected Sebum causes over 90% of baldness and falling hair. Remove it and hair will grow. Illustration (A) shows Sebum infected hair and (B) healthy hair.

Costs Nothing

Unless we grow hair. The Van Ess 3-bottle treatment is absolutely guaranteed. You are the sole judge. The treatment is given by your own druggist. All we require is his signature showing you have purchased a ninety-day treatment. If it fails, we refund your money. Hence you assume no risk making this test.

Note This New Way

—It Massages the Treatment Directly to the Follicles of the Hair

You can see from illustration that Van Ess is not a "tonic." It combines a "tonic" and lotion in one treatment. You can use it in with your fingers. Each package comes with a rubber massage cap. The nipples are on the head, and nipples automatically feed lotion down to follicles of the scalp. At the same time the nipples give your head a massage. It is very easy to apply. One minute each day is enough.

Think of Oil in Terms of 1923

IN considering the oil business as it is today, we must think in terms of 1923 and not in terms of 1913—which was before such unheard of impetus had been given to the automotive industry.

In 1913 there were but 1,287,000 motor vehicles registered in the United States, while the year ending December 31, 1922, saw a total registration of 12,239,114—an increase of 900%.

The magnitude of the oil business is so vast that no man can visualize it clearly. It is difficult to picture the needs of 12½ million automobiles, to say nothing of the vast gallonage needed to supply tractors, stationary gas engines, and the demand for gasoline coming from the arts and industries generally.

The problem of supplying 12½ million cars is quite different from the problem confronting the industry a decade ago when but 1¼ million cars were in commission.

The adaptation to a changing situation meant the making over of the petroleum industry.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has retained its leadership by expanding its facilities both in the manufacture and distribution rapidly enough to meet the insistent demand for greater service.

During the past ten years the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has grown as the need for its products and service has grown. This ever-increasing demand for petroleum products has made it necessary for the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) to expand its facilities to an extraordinary degree. Yet, with its multiplied facilities, the Company finds that all its energies are absorbed in meeting the demand for its products from 30 million people in the ten Middle Western States it serves.

While proud of the service it has rendered in the past, the Standard Oil Company today is thinking in terms of 1923 and the years to come.

WASHINGTON SQUARE
FOLK GETTING CHUMMY

Old Residents of New York City Neighborhood to Give Luncheon and Be Neighborly With Newcomers.

NEW YORK, June 1.—In the Washington Square neighborhood they are going to start something that is quite new in the history of city life—the old residents are going out among the newer ones and are going to say quite politely: "Won't you please come and get acquainted and let us all play together in the Square?" It will be the old home people of the neighborhood, those living in the old-time houses, appealing to the big apartment-house dwellers.

The invitations will be sent through the Washington Square Association which already has a thousand members, including some of the best-known persons in the city. There is the Rev. Dr. Howard Duffield, rector emeritus of the old First Presbyterian Church; Robert W. de Forest, president of the Metropolitan Museum of Art; Irving T. Bush and Pierre Malli, the Belgian Consul—all of them members of the Executive Committee of the association. Gustave T. Kirby, the association's president, speaking of this invitation to the newer people in the Washington Square neighborhood, said:

"That little part of the city in which we live is an oasis in the business world. It has been and still is an interesting spot. A wilderness with only an Indian trail running through it in the days when New York was small, it was later used for a potters' field; a gallows where many highwaymen paid the penalty for their deeds has stood there, and there has been a 'gallows tree,' an old elm which stood well into the last century."

Would Keep Area Wholesome.

"Later still the heart of our district was the Washington military parade ground. Many famous names are associated with the Square's history, and much history has been made there. As business crept up town the neighborhood has escaped encroachments. We want to keep that part of the city a clean and wholesome place to live in, and we want the new people as they come in to become a part of the life."

"We who have lived there longer not only know each other, but we know how to each other. We play together and work together. Within the last few years the apartment houses have been building up in the streets around, two or three to every block. It is a good thing. These people have the same ideas that we have and we want them to come and join us. It is not that we need their $10 for the association, we are doing very well as we are, but we want them to come in and be friendly."

"We are going to begin on Monday, June 4, when we will have a luncheon at the Berkley on Fifth avenue. Sheriff David Knott is chairman of the Committee for New Members, and we want workers in every street to go from house to house and from apartment to apartment and say to people: 'Won't you come in and join our fine company?'

Gay but Decent Life Desired.

"We do both destructive and constructive work. Since we have been living in the neighborhood Greenwich Village has become notorious—filled with short-haired women and long-haired men, and they have stopped over. We have no objection to a Bohemian life; we want people to have a good time, but it must be decent. There are many of our finest people living in Greenwich Village."

"We want our part of the city to be the finest in every way. We want ultimately to offer medals for the house making the best appearance, for the apartment which makes the best showing, for the best window box, or garden. We are planning now to have next spring an exhibition in Washington Square, an outdoor salon to show the work done by the real artists in our neighborhood, painters and sculptors, and we will have a tent for the work that must be enclosed."

In a pamphlet the Washington Square Association, whose home is at 262 Greenwich street, invites all the citizens of the district, men, women and all who are interested in homes and the district as a whole to join. The by-laws say that all residents below Fourteenth street may be elected members upon paying $10.

"A red, pimply rash broke out on my daughter's face, hands and arms. Later the pimples filled with a watery fluid which dried and scales formed. The pimples itched and burned so badly when they first broke out that she scratched them, making them worse. Her clothing irritated the breaking out, causing much suffering and soreness."

"We began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and after the first application they relieved the itching. We continued using them and in one month she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. V. L. Davis, Cora, Mo.

Illinois Central System Discusses Valuation of the Railroads

Under the terms of the Valuation Act, introduced and sponsored by Senator Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin and enacted into law by the Congress in 1913, the Interstate Commerce Commission has been engaged about nine years in compiling data to determine the value of the properties owned by the railroads and used in the transportation. The Government and the railroads together have already expended upon this work about $88,000,000.

Using the information on railway value compiled by its Bureau of Valuation, the Interstate Commerce Commission in 1920 placed, for rate-making purposes, a tentative valuation of $18,900,000,000 upon the railway properties of the country. Although this country probably never will go back to the low level of costs existing prior to the war, this tentative valuation was based upon pre-war costs, which since then have practically doubled. Subsequent net additions to the railway properties have been taken by the Commission at cost less depreciation, and the present tentative valuation is around $20,000,000,000, which is about $2,000,000,000 in excess of the outstanding railway capitalization.

Valuation and capitalization of railway properties are sometimes confused in public discussions. Some railroads are overcapitalized; on the other hand, many railroads are capitalized at much less than a fair value of their properties.

Take the Illinois Central System as an example. The aggregate par value of our securities outstanding on December 31, 1922, was $406,565,141. On that date we owned about 75,000 freight cars, 1,500 locomotives and 1,700 passenger train cars. Taking $1,000 as the average value of our freight cars, which is less than half what new car costs today; taking $20,000 as the average value of a locomotive, which is nearly half what we are paying now, and taking our passenger train cars at $1,000 less than half the present price (most of our passenger cars are modern steel cars), the following is a conservative estimate of the value of our equipment alone:

Freight cars	$ 25,000,000
Locomotives	55,500,000
Passenger train cars	25,500,000

Subtracting this from our capitalization gives only $350,565,141 as representing the value of our roadway, with its right-of-way, ballast, ties and rails, bridges, signals, telephone and telegraph lines and other roadway properties, and even including our buildings, land, roundhouses, shops, freight and passenger stations and the like. The value of our terminal properties at Chicago and other important cities runs into large figures. For example, we own 1415 acres lying within the city limits of Chicago. 174 acres bordering on Michigan Avenue and the great Loop district. The Illinois Central System owns about 6200 miles of road, but counting additional main line trackage, passing tracks and yard tracks, we have about 10,000 miles of track. If the $350,565,141 referred to above covered the value of track alone (excluding all other properties used in the service of the public), it would represent only about $25,000 for each mile of track. It costs around $25,000 a mile to build ordinary hard-surfaced highways with only light grading and bridge construction involved, and without including the cost of acquiring the roadway. Will any reasonable minded person deny that the Illinois Central System's track, with its right-of-way, ballast, ties, rails, heavy bridges, signals, telephone and telegraph lines and other appurtenances, is worth more per mile than it costs to build a mile of hard road with only light grading and bridge construction involved and without including the cost of acquiring the land?

There are some who are trying to make it appear that the Interstate Commerce Commission's tentative valuation of the railroads is excessive and a burden upon those who pay freight and passenger rates. They overlook the fact that out of every dollar received by the railroads in 1922 about 86 cents went to pay the actual costs of the service rendered to the public (costs upon which the valuation can have no conceivable effect), and only about 14 cents remained out of which to pay interest on indebtedness, rentals of leased lines, dividends and the cost of enlargements and improvements.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

C. H. MARKHAM,
President, Illinois Central System.

CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S CLINIC ANNUAL AFFAIR

Medical Society Announces Plan to Offer Free Examination and Care Every Year.

The St. Louis Medical Society announced today its intention to make an annual occurrence of its clinic for the examination of crippled children and its offer of free medical, surgical and hospital care for the children of parents unable to pay.

The society's clinic this year was held on April 23, 24 and 25. A recapitulation of records shows that 182 children were examined, of whom 88 were from seven states outside Missouri. Of those examined, 67 were sent to hospitals and 115 referred to clinics, where their care will be pursued until the maximum of improvement has been effected. It was the opinion of the examining physicians that the treatment would effect improvement in the case of 85 per cent of the children, ranging from slight betterment to complete physical regeneration.

In referring to the part taken by the Post-Dispatch in searching out crippled children by the publication of application-blanks for treatment, the society's Committee of Public Instruction states in a letter: "The committed desire to extend to you an expression of appreciation for the splendid co-operation given in the campaign. We wish especially to thank you for the splendid editorial and wide publicity given the movement."

PROPOSES LATIN AS AUXILIARY LANGUAGE

Adoption in Simplified Form
Seen as Real Need by Princeton University Dean.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
PRINCETON, N. J., June 1.—"The difficulty in international understanding caused by so many different languages in various countries can be overcome by the adoption of simplified Latin as a universal language," said Andrew Fleming West, dean of the Graduate College of Princeton University and president of the American Classical League, here recently. "Undoubtedly there is a real need for an auxiliary language," Dean West continued, "to be used among the peoples of Europe and the Americas as a supplement to English and French. A simplified Latin seems the most adaptable for such a purpose.

"Propaganda is being sent out by the American Classical League for the adoption of Latin as the universal language founded on the work of Prof. Roland B. Kent of the University of Pennsylvania and past president of the American Classical League. Prof. Kent's plan includes the lessening of the obstacle in the way of free intercourse between people of different tongues by the acceptance of one universal language in his theory, a simplified form of Latin.

Merely an Auxiliary.

"The American Classical League is not agitating for an international language, but for an international auxiliary language, qualified with the prefix 'auxiliary' because it is not meant to displace any living language. It is also meant to supplement rather than to displace any existing means of international communication, such as French in diplomacy and English in commerce."

Dean West went on to say that "there are but three classes of languages from which such an international auxiliary language could be chosen; a modern language, an artificial language or a dead language."

Objections to English.

"English is withdrawn from the field of possibilities because of its inconsistencies between the written and spoken word. Also, the worldwide use of English would give the English-speaking peoples an undue advantage in trade.

"The case against French is less complete. Jealousy, however, and the wide variance between its orthography and pronunciation are held as bars against French as the international auxiliary language.

"Esperanto, Ido and other artificial languages are not considered very seriously because the sounds are ill chosen and because no artificial language has no storehouse of association in a literature built up by long years of extensive usage."

RUINS OF ANCIENT THEATER
DISCOVERED NEAR ROME

Noted Italian Archaeologist Certain of the Value of His Find.

Special Correspondence of the Post-Dispatch.
ROME, May 13.—The remains of a Roman theater, 65 feet in diameter, dating from the second century of the Christian era, have been discovered in a garden at Ferentino, about 50 miles south of Rome. Prof. Alfonso Bartoli, noted archeologist, is certain of the value of his find. The ruins are near the Porta Sanguinaria. A fine background is provided by the range of the Monti Lepini and the Valley of the Sacco, along which the railway runs from Rome to Naples.

Dr. E. H. G. Way, director of the British Archeological School in Rome, in an article on Ferentino had already noted these remains but was of opinion that they had been ancient shops. The walls are of brick and local travertine and are said to possess considerable architectural as well as archaeological interest. Further excavations are probable.

The ancient Ferentino was a city of the Hernici, taken by the Romans (as Livy tells us) and destroyed in the second Punic war. It afterward became a Roman colony and was selected by Horace as a typical quiet country place in which any one whose nerves were worn out with the dust and the noisy wheeled traffic of Rome could retire for peace and a daily siesta.

RAIL VALUATION FORMULA
GIVEN BY SALESMEN'S COUNCIL

Declares Rates Should Be Based on Original Cost of Property Necessary to Transportation.

NEW YORK, May 31.—In a letter to Basil M. Manley, director of the National Conference on Railroad Valuation, the National Council of Traveling Salesmen's Associations gives this formula for arriving at valuations:

"That rates should be based on original cost of property and equipment primarily necessary to the business of transportation, excluding oil, mining, real estate and the carriers' sundry other enterprises, investments and projects, from which would be deducted the proper percentage for depreciation, according to relative wear and tear of previously determined divisions of railroad property and equipment, plus the actual investments made for replacements, improvements and new equipment, with due allowance for actual operating costs under reasonable Federal supervision of overhead expenses in management, salaries and other operating extravagances."

BRITONS UNLIKELY TO PLAY IN U. S. GOLF 'OPEN'

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, June 1.—For the first time in several years the American open golf championship, to be held at Inwood, Long Island, probably will lack international competition, though the British invasion promises to be keener than ever.

There is little likelihood this year of British invasion as the veterans have practically abandoned all thoughts of making another trip and the young stars are undeveloped.

Three years ago Ted Ray carried off the blue ribbon crown of American golf at Inwood, Toledo, while his touring partner, Harry Vardon, who won the United States title in 1909, finished in a tie with three others for second place. George Duncan, former British open champion, was the only one to win the British in 1921 and 1922, but the best Duncan could do was tie for eighth in 1921 and sixth in 1922, while Mitchell both times failed to catch his best stroke.

FRENCH TRAITOR FREED FROM ISLAND PRISON

Naval Officer Served 15 Years for Selling His Country for Woman's Love.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.

PARIS.—Three lines in a daily paper have just recalled a story of passion, treason and crime; the ruin and degradation of a brilliant young naval officer who, 15 years ago, betrayed his country in order to obtain money for a woman of whom he was enamored. Ultimo, condemned to penal servitude for life, has been released from his prison in Devil's Island and given freedom—comparative freedom, that is to say—in the scrubland of Cayenne, where he will drag out the remainder of his miserable existence.

La Belle Lison was the name of the woman who fascinated Ultimo in the early years of his career at Toulon. The son of a wealthy industrialist at Lyons from whom he received a handsome allowance to supplement his pay, Ultimo was enlivened by his poorer comrades. But La Belle Lison had expensive tastes. To satisfy them the young officer was soon led to robbing and then to other more dishonest means of procuring money.

Employed in a naval department office where he had access to important documents, he succumbed to temptation and began to sell secrets to foreign agents. He even endeavored to sell to his own Government forged documents purporting to be information relative to a foreign Power's military plans. Suspicions were raised and the French authorities laid a trap for him.

Presented as being foreign agents instructed to buy certain plans from Ultimo, French officers arranged to meet him at a lonely spot on the coast. Ultimo fell into the trap. There was a fight in which the traitor used his revolver. A few months later he was a convict on Devil's Island which he has only just quit—a broken old man.

COLLEGES URGED TO STRESS THE DEMAND FOR ACCURACY

President Burton of University of Michigan Says America Has "New Sense of Thoroughness."

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO. June 1.—Accuracy, in all its meanings and as a basis for developing men who understand present day problems was stressed by President M. L. Burton of the University of Michigan in an address prepared for delivery today on "What the University Do," before the Executives' Club at the Sherman Hotel.

"The college," he said, "must place a new strong emphasis upon the old-fashioned demand for accuracy. Speaking historically we have been a race of pioneers. From the beginning we have done the best we could. No one has pretended that we were doing as well as we should like. It is a new sense of thoroughness that superficiality is an American vice. Temporally we are not well equipped for patient work."

"A decade ago the attack on our colleges was bitter. In many respects the accusations were justified. America's hurry and superficiality found one form of expression in the typical undergraduate who had little concern for the real work of the college."

Fortunately the war has established a whole set of new facts. America has emerged from the conflict with a new sense of thoroughness.

"The college must seize the occasion to drive home in a new day the old demand for accuracy. This quality connotes carefulness, precision, exactness and definiteness. Speaking negatively it calls for the absence of defects, the elimination of mistakes and freedom from error."

"Today as never before the college of liberal arts must stand for absolute, unqualified devotion to the truth. All groups and all interests must understand that the colleges will teach the truth regardless of consequences to their endowments, their enrollment and their equipment."

CHURCH CORNERSTONE

TO BE LAID SUNDAY

Woman Who, as Child, Played on New Grace-Holy Cross Grounds 18 Years Ago, Will Speak.

One of the speakers at the cornerstone laying of the new Grace-Holy Cross Episcopal Church Sunday, at 5 p. m. will be Mrs. Sarah Meinberg, who played around the grounds as a child when the old church was built 78 years ago. She has attended Grace-Holy Cross all these years.

The old church burned two years ago, and since then services have been held in the parish hall. The new church will cost $50,000, according to the late Mrs. Susan B. Mount to the late Bishop Tuttle for a church wherever he wished it built. Grace-Holy Cross occupies a big tract of land at 2600 North Twelfth street, with rectory, public park, gulf hall, free dispensary and many community activities. In addition to the new building about $15,000 is to be spent on repairs and enlarging old buildings, and fixing up "the grounds."

Bishop Johnson will officiate at the corner stone laying and the Very Rev. William Scarlett, Dean of Christ Church Cathedral, and the Rev. Carl Reed Taylor, rector of Grace-Holy Cross, will also take part. Philip S. Russel, president of Grace-Holy Cross Corporation, and Clinton L. Whittemore, will be among the speakers.

KANSAS REFUSES TO DROP FIGHT FOR INSURANCE CUT

Compromise Offer of Fire Risk Companies Declined and State Will Continue With Litigation.

Special to the Post-Dispatch
TOPEKA, Kan.—Kansas is going to fight for millions of dollars of fire insurance premiums. This is the decision of Governor Sam M. St. John, Superintendent of Insurance, Lawyer, and Attorney-General Griffith. They have refused to accept the compromise offer of the 125 fire insurance companies to reduce premiums $450,000 a year after three years.

In January, 1922, the State Insurance Department issued an order that the fire insurance companies must reduce the rates on the business in Kansas. The order reduced rates from 5 to 25 per cent on different classes making an average of about 18 per cent. Then there were some increases in lines where it was definitely shown that the companies were actually losing money. Chief increases were on fire rates and the theft rates on motor cars.

Matter Taken to Courts.

The insurance companies went into the courts to enjoin the enforcement of the order. The companies represented that the reduced rates would bankrupt them.

The District Court of Shawnee County granted a temporary restraining order. The insurance companies were ordered to impound all the premiums collected. The companies offered to give bond that they would pay back the money to the policy holders if the State won the case. But the court required that the money actually be paid to the State and held in trust for policy holders. If the State wins, the State will pay the excess premiums back to the policyholders. If the State loses, the money will all go to the insurance companies.

The insurance companies publish a rate at which they sell insurance. When the department cut these rates the companies continued to charge the old rates for all business. It is the difference between the published rates of the insurance companies and those ordered into effect by the State Department, which must be impounded. These impounded premiums vary from 5 cents up to $10 on each policy. It is seldom that one company will write a very large amount of insurance upon any single risk. Many companies limit the amount to $5000 on any single property. And the amount involved in the difference between a company and the State rates is impounded, there is only a small amount involved on each policy. But the aggregate of the impounded premiums exceeded $800,000 the first year. It is estimated that the impounded premiums will reach a total of $1,000,000 a year during the third year that the suit is before the courts.

Compromise Offer.

The insurance companies offered to compromise the case some weeks ago. They asked that the State return to them all of the impounded premiums and then the insurance companies would promise to respect many of the mercantile and manufacturing plants and other industries and fix new rates for them which would make a saving of $450,000 a year after three years. The only benefit the home owner or the man who rented a home and carried insurance on his household goods would receive by this compromise would be in reduced rates for tornado insurance. The companies offered a cut only on business properties and some classes of farm properties.

The Governor, Attorney-General and Superintendent of Insurance refused to accept the compromise offer of the insurance companies and announced that the State was ready to take the case to the Supreme Court of the United States if necessary to get reduced rates. A special appropriation of $110,000 was made and the State is prepared to conduct an aggressive fight in the case.

WHAT WILL AL SAY NOW?

This was the question on the lips of most New Yorkers when they awoke this morning, following the hearing held yesterday by New York's Governor, Al Smith, on the bill to repeal the Mullan-Gage Act, which is the State prohibition enforcement measure, operating as an auxiliary enforcement support to the Volstead Act. Gov. Smith (on left) is shown shaking hands with Mayor Hylan of New York City during the celebration of the city's jubilee a few days ago.

Do You Run a Home or a "Hotel"?

By Mrs Christine Frederick.

CONUNDRUM: "What is the difference between a home and a hotel?" We read glowing advertisements which assure us that "this hotel has all the comforts of a home," or "this restaurant has home-cooked food," but in spite of their claims the difficult "something" which means home appears lacking. Just what is it that makes "a home of your own"? Because surely no one ever thought of wanting a "hotel of your own."

A little thinking seems to show that one important hotel ideal is comfort and freedom from the responsibilities of management. The same ideal governs a man's club or how else explain why Father so often prefers to go to the club where he can trail his ashes across the floor and scatter the entire Sunday supplement at his feet without marital reproof?

And as far as Mother is concerned, a hotel means freedom from inexorable domestic subjection to servants, order, and possibly the actual work of running a home. She can go out shopping when she feels like it, with no baking or mending day hanging heavy, heavy over her head. She can put all her service problems up to the room clerk or manager and throw all her meal and laundry problems onto the head waiter and the maid.

Put why cannot the home afford as much comfort and personal freedom as a hotel? Why not let Father scatter the ashes and the paper and put his feet on the pillows if that makes him happy? Why so order baking and cleaning and laundry that they are a veritable millstone around Mother's neck? Can't we make the domestic routine subservient to the more important comfort and happiness of the inmates of the home?

Indeed, no housekeeping is a success which puts schedule and routine and the skeleton of management

Poor girl, she died the other day in San Francisco—because she couldn't make a success at song writing.

And on the very same day a boy down in Los Angeles killed himself because he couldn't make a success in the motion pictures.

And neither of them was quite 25 years old.

Success—failure, what do they mean, after all?

That poor girl who was so broken-hearted because she couldn't sell her songs and make a living by them—how foolish she was to care so bitterly about it!

What if she couldn't sell her songs? She could write them and that was something, and she could probably sing them, too, and that was a good deal more.

Why didn't she get a job somewhere, just a plain, everyday job, and earn her living with that and write her songs and sing them when she was through with her regular work?

Too tired! Nonsense, no real musician is ever too tired to enjoy real music!

And the boy—why had he so set his heart upon being a success in the pictures? Was there nothing else in the world he could do besides pose for the camera? What is there so fascinating about that anyhow?

What Was the Difference?

Now if that boy had just stopped thinking about the pictures and found himself some plain, everyday work, it wouldn't have been six months before he would have wondered what all his disappointment and humiliation and grief were about.

Once when my married sister was ill and her cook left and I went to her home to see what I could do to help out 'till the new cook came, I read the recipes in the cook-book and found a rule for cooking a pot roast and making it, so the cook-book said, "delicious, appetizing and wholesome."

It sounded too good for words—and then if you once got it cooked you could have cold meat and hash and meat pie—no, you have to know how

CHAPTER V.
Saints and Sinners.

JEAN BRONSON returned home after her talk with Miss Walsh in a somewhat relieved frame of mind. Douglas had acted very foolishly, there was no denying that, and she would punish him severely for it. But she was quite convinced that he had done nothing unforgivable. Indeed, his actions, so far, as Miss Walsh was concerned, had proved conclusively that he loved her. The thought filled her with happiness.

Of course, there was her mother to be considered. The story, on the face of it, was an ugly one, and Mrs. Hammill would lose no opportunity to spread it broadcast. People would talk, as they usually did, for a week or two, and then the whole matter would be forgotten in favor of some fresher scandal. As for her mother, when she learned the truth, she would, Jean hoped, be lenient.

In this hope the girl allowed her optimism to run away with her judgment. Mrs. Bronson, intensely, even morbidly, religious, lived in an environment in which all enjoyable things were regarded with deep suspicion—as devices of the evil one to lure the unwary from the straight and narrow path. For a long time she had nursed the conviction that the principal purpose of life was to prepare for death; that nothing mattered which did not have as its object the salvation of one's soul. Twenty years of such thinking had made her a neurotic wreck, Jean, possessing the normal passions and desires of youth, had not yet realized that their inhibition would in the end impede her as wholesomely neurotic as her mother. So far her vivid health, her lively animal spirits, had found a feeble outlet in the social activities of her immediate circle.

Mrs. Bronson, being afflicted with all the virtues, had never regarded Douglas Kenyon with favor. Rumor had it that he had lived rather a gay life prior to his sudden infatuation for Jean. It is true that since then he had made an exemplary record, had lived in accord with even Mrs. Bronson's strict ideas of what a young man's existence should be, but still, she had nursed a secret suspicion that he would in the end prove a back-slidder. She was too busy setting right the morals of a topsy-turvy world to realize that between youth and middle age there is a very extensive gulf. Consequently, when she heard Mrs. Hammill's story, which she did before that lady left the house, she had first looked for Jean and, finding that she had gone out, had hurried off to lay the whole disgraceful matter before her father, Joshua Carrington. Now she was awaiting her daughter's return in the somberness of the Bronson library, a picture of outraged dignity.

"Stop!" she cried. "I will not listen to such talk from a child of mine. Have you lost your senses? Of course the woman would deny anything wrong. What did you expect her to do—admit it? Surely you cannot be so gullible as to believe her story—a dissolute creature, who dances practically nude before a crowd of drunken men. I am amazed, horrified, that you would so far demean yourself as even to speak to her. Do you think a woman who would accompany a man to his apartment at 2 o'clock in the morning would not understand perfectly well why she was going there? Would you be so stupid as to believe anything she said? I thought I had raised you to be a moral, self-respecting woman."

"Yes, I talked with her. She was a very frank and honest sort of a girl, and she told me exactly what happened. Douglas took her to his apartment because it was late and he was tired and did not want to drive all the way to 110th Street. He gave her his bedroom and slept on a couch. In the morning he just said a few words to her and left. It was very foolish, of course, but I'm sure Douglas did nothing wrong, and—"

Mrs. Bronson, whose anger had been slowly mounting, could contain herself no longer. Pale, thin-lipped, her eyes burning with rage, she went up to her daughter and placed her hand almost roughly on her shoulder.

"Stop!" she cried. "I will not listen to such talk from a child of mine. Have you lost your senses? Of course the woman would deny anything wrong. What did you expect her to do—admit it? Circular doors, weighing 15 tons and two feet thick, are a new protection for safes against burglars.

Shingling church spires is an almost extinct industry, although a few old churches still have their spires covered in this way.

Motor cars, horse races and the motion pictures are among the amusements now available at the leper colony at Molokai, Hawaiian Islands.

There are between three and four million insects in the Natural History Museum at South Kensington, London, England.

Little Bear had disobeyed with them, but Littlest Bear hadn't been spanked. She got off with nothing worse than a scolding. It was because she was the littlest. So it wasn't long before she tried it again. Mother Bear returned and found her playing on the ground, instead of up in the tree.

It was so tired holding on there that I just had to come down," whined Littlest Bear.

"Well, perhaps I did leave you up there too long," said Mother Bear.

Alexandria, Egypt, was built by Alexander the Great in 17 days.

In Glasgow, Scotland, it is said that there are 10,000 marriages yearly and only 1000 new houses available.

The English language contains about 20,000 words which are of French origin.

Opals are so soft when first taken from the ground that they may be pulled apart with the fingers.

India has a small fish, the gourami, which gives an audible croak when on the surface of the water.

It is said that burglar alarms which not only give loud warning of the intruder, but also take a snapshot photograph of him, are being tested in Paris, France.

"If you were as big as your brother and sister it would be different. But you mustn't disobey again. Something dreadful might happen to you."

"Yes'm," replied Littlest Bear meekly. But the very next time Mother Bear sent them up a tree Littlest Bear was down just as soon as Mother Bear was out of sight. What was worse, she teased Brother and Sister because they didn't dare come down. Littlest Bear was a spoiled darling. There was no doubt about it, she was a spoiled darling.

The Man on the Sandbox

by L. C. Davis

BRIDGE.
I WAS playing bridge at midnight. And trumped my partner's ace, And I'll never forget while living The look on my partner's face. Oh, the darkling cloud of thunder / That gathered upon her brow! And if looks could kill instanter I wouldn't be writing this now.

"Half Barrel of Beer Brings Raid by Police."
Must have been an exclusive tip.

IT'S OFF TO HER.
S HE'S an old-fashioned girl, For, though she chews the rag As girls have always done, She'll never smoke a fag.

—Luke McLuka
She's an old-fashioned girl, For, though she chews the rag, She'll never chew tobacco And throw away the tag.

QUOTE SO.
With the able assistance of Rollie Naylor the Athletics are hammering their way to the front.

Pinky Mitchell couldn't do much with Benny Leonard, but he had a couple of brothers who attempted to give boxing a black eye in Chicago.

The policemen are to be allowed to wear their coats unbuttoned during the warm weather, if any. The only stipulation is that they must wear a clean white shirt. Thought there was a catch in it somewhere.

The man on the sand box says they are talking about rewriting the Bible. Nobody but a scenario writer would have thought of that.

KNOCKOUT.
Can you imagine what one of those movie guys would do with the Ark scene from Genesis? Palatial ocean liner filled with trained animals doing stunts, airplanes dropping messages from the Governor of Mount Ararat and the villain who had sneaked on board disguised as a gorilla trying to scuttle the ship by making the sawfish saw a hole in her.

After he got through with it old Noah himself wouldn't recognize the story.

Spalla Challenges Dempsey for Title.
Erminio must have taken Musso lini seriously.
